

PROPOSITION 47

California voters to decide on measure to fund public education facility needs.

Proposition 47, on the Nov. 5 ballot, seeks voter approval for a $13.05 billion bond measure to relieve overcrowding, accommodate new enrollments, make overdue safety repairs and upgrade California's elementary, middle and high schools, community colleges and universities. Should voters approve Prop. 47, critical facility needs at UCI would be fulfilled: seismic improvements to Rowland Hall, construction of Computer Science Unit 3, plans to construct Biological Sciences Unit 3 and the expansion of Central Plant.

Supporters of Prop. 47 include a broad-based coalition of education, civic and business groups, including the UC Board of Regents, California State PTA, California Taxpayer's Association, California Chamber of Commerce and the California Business Roundtable. The opposition campaign is not yet organized, but signers of the ballot argument in opposition to Prop. 47 include State Senator William J. (Pete) Knight, the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association and the National Tax Limitation Committee.
