

Happy Birthday Pell Grant!

The Pell Grant is 50!

For 50 years, the Pell Grant has put college in reach for low-income students from all backgrounds. Millions of Americans have earned a college degree with help from this transformative program. But the years are catching up to Pell: Grants once covered up to 75 percent of costs at a 4-year-college; today, they cover less than a third.

To ensure the Pell Grant continues to benefit future generations, the University of California, the UC Student Association and advocates across the country are calling on Congress to renew their commitment to this important program by doubling the maximum award so that it reaches $13,000, and then indexing it to inflation to keep it strong in the years ahead. Doubling the Pell Grant would ease the student loan burden, help students meet their basic needs and allow more students to graduate college.

Long live the Pell Grant—here's to another life-changing 50+ years!

“In the six years it took me to complete an undergraduate degree I faced houselessness, food insecurity, and constant financial stress. I sometimes wondered whether a degree was worth the constant struggle and working 2-4 jobs while being a full-time student. Ultimately, this was possible because of financial aid like the Pell Grant.”

Esmeralda Quintero-Cubillan
President, UC Student Association
UC Santa Barbara '22

“Happy 50th Birthday, Pell! Without your half century of service to the country, millions of students might not have been able to pursue higher education. Still time has aged you like the rest of us, so we need Congress to care for you now more than ever. Here’s to the next 50 years!”

Bailey Henderson
Fund the UC Vice Chair,
UC Student Association
UC Berkeley '23

“For the last 50 years Pell Grants have made attending college possible for countless students and eased the burden of debt for many more. Congress should celebrate this milestone by Doubling the Pell to restore its full ability to make college affordable.”

Alex Niles
Government Relations Chair,
UC Student Association
UC Santa Barbara, '23

“The Pell Grant is an essential investment in our future leaders, making education possible for countless students, and is now officially 50 years old. The ultimate birthday present? Restoring its purchasing power and advancing equity and access, by Doubling the Pell!”

Raina Zhao
Campaigns Chair, UC Student Association
UC Berkeley '22

We the 2,984 undersigned join with the University of California and the University of California Student Association in calling on Congress to renew their commitment to the Pell Grant by doubling the maximum award so that it reaches $13,000, and then indexing it to inflation to keep it strong in the years ahead.
